

I spend a lot of time in supporting my family and my friends.

Besides my professional interest in theoretical particle physics I am also keen on applied research, in particular on subtle effects of the General Theory of Relativity on different test particles in the gravity field of the Earth.

In that respect I regularly participate in expert meetings on applied gravity.

In contrast to most of my physics colleagues, I highly respect other sciences like chemistry - I regularly travel with like-minded people far in order to be able to study and appreciate the outcome of chemical investigations at remote research laboratories.
